

New Perspectives on Joseph Smith and Translation

16 March 2017
9am to 5:30pm
4th floor, Perry Pavillion,
Jon Huntsman
School of Business,
Utah State University

FREE & OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

---

SPEAKERS & DISCUSSANTS:

Richard L. Bushman

Terryl Givens

Samuel M. Brown

Jared Hickman

Jana Riess

Rosalynde Welch

Philip Barlow

faithmatters.org

---

SPONSORED BY:

faith matters
FOUNDATION

---

New Perspectives on Joseph Smith and Translation: Conference Schedule

MORNINGS SESSION: 9AM–1PM

- 9AM: Welcome
- 9:15AM: Richard Bushman followed by questions/discussion
- 10AM: Samuel Brown followed by questions/discussion
- 10:45AM: Break (15 min)
- 11AM: Jared Hickman followed by questions/discussion
- 11:45AM: Terryl Givens followed by questions/discussion
- 12:30PM: Questions from audience and wrap up by Philip Barlow

AFTERNOON SESSION: 2:15PM–5:30PM

- 2–2:50PM: First hour (Framing by Jana Riess). Discussion topic: Strengths and weaknesses of traditional linguistic translation approaches; relative merits of prominent arguments for various forms of linguistic translation; ways and instances in which these models of linguistic translation become inadequate.
- 2:50–3PM: Break (10 min)
- 3–3:50PM: Second Hour: (Framing by Rosalynde Welch). Is a new, emerging, coherent translation paradigm reflected in these papers and the morning's deliberations? If so, can this paradigm and the more conventional paradigm co-exist? Do translations as we have them require both? To what extent can Joseph Smith be said to have a single mode of translation?
- 3:50–4PM: Break (10 min)
- 4–4:45PM: Third Hour (Framing by Bill Turnbull). Is there some broad sense in which “translation” applies to the foundations and practices of Mormonism? Is there a sense in which Joseph Smith's idea of translation is alive (standing as a model and an invitation to greater spiritual and moral imagination) in today's Mormonism? What practical consequences are there to our day's work?
- 4:45–5:30PM: Audience questions and wrap up

New Perspectives on Joseph Smith and Translation: Parking Information

Visitors can park at Blue Terrace or Aggie Terrace and walk to Huntsman Hall (5 minute walk)

-  HUNTSMAN HALL
-  PARKING

